Benjamin A. DuBois
Associate

T (617) 248-4013
bdubois@choate.com

Practice Areas
Intellectual Property Litigation

Education
The George Washington University Law School
JD (2021), with honors
Editor-in-Chief, The George Washington International Law Review

Vanderbilt University
BA (2015)

Admissions
Massachusetts

Ben DuBois is a member of Choate's Intellectual Property Litigation group. He represents a broad range of clients in commercial litigation and intellectual property matters, including patent infringement, trade secret, and contract disputes.

During law school, Ben was a judicial intern for Chief Judge Beryl A. Howell in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. He was also a legal intern in the Fraud Section of the Criminal Division at the U.S. Department of Justice, and a patent law research assistant to Professor Dmitry Karshtedt.

Representative Engagements

- Counsel for multinational biotechnology company in biosimilar patent litigation under the Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act (BPCIA).

- Represent biotechnology company in federal court trade secret litigation related to mental health therapies.

- Successfully opposed motion for preliminary injunction and appeal; obtained dismissal of breach of contract action for commercial real estate firm.

- Trial counsel for global software company in state court trade secret litigation.

- Represented individual in connection with Foreign Corrupt Practices Act investigation related to former employer.

Publications and Presentations

- "Mind the Gap: Ratification of the U.N. Convention Against Discrimination in Education as a Solution to Singapore's Educational Gender Gap," author*, 53 Geo. Wash. Int'l L. Rev. 503,* 2022

Professional and Community Involvement

- Ben provides pro bono services related to immigration and Social Security through the Lawyers Clearinghouse

Recognition

- High Honors Recipient, Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court Pro Bono Honor Roll (2023)