Alex Bevans is a member of Choate's Intellectual Property Litigation group. Alex helps clients across a range of industries, including biotechnology, to protect their intellectual property portfolios by successfully resolving their trade secrets and patent disputes. In addition, Alex has experience representing clients, including a large investment advisor and multiple corporate board members, in general commercial litigation.

While in law school, Alex completed an internship with the Worcester County District Attorney's Office and served as a judicial intern to Magistrate Judge Judith Dein at the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts.

Prior to law school, Alex worked as an economic consultant advising on antitrust litigation, mergers and acquisitions, and employee job actions.
